Dear Friends,

It is with great pride that Hospice of Martha’s Vineyard offers our 2018 Annual Report to our supporters, reflecting upon our good work, as well as certain future challenges. After 37 years, we remain firmly committed to our core mission to provide quality hospice and bereavement services at no cost to all who are facing serious illness, grief, and death on the Island. We are extremely fortunate to have a phenomenal hospice team who are dedicated and committed to serve our patients and their families with the utmost care and compassion.

Hospice of Martha’s Vineyard is an organization that remains responsive to the needs of our Island community. In the past fiscal year, we were privileged to provide hospice services to 105 patients, an increase of 100% since moving into our new office in 2012. We continue to offer counseling services to our hospice families, as well as those outside of Hospice, who have suffered a death within our community. Our bereavement program supported family members and loved ones with 113 clients being seen in 2018.

In the coming years, we will be faced with ongoing challenges. The two most pressing issues will be our physical space needs and the increase in staffing to meet the needs of our ever-growing hospice and bereavement caseloads, and the corresponding budget impact of each. Additionally, we need to focus outreach to underserved communities, ensuring that all members of our Island’s multicultural community are aware and have access to hospice and bereavement services.

We appreciate the support of our donors, volunteers, and friends, and take very seriously the trust that you place in us. Thank you for all that you do to support our mission and important work.

We could not do what we do without your support.

Thomas Hallahan, Sc.D.  Kevin Carey, M.D.
Executive Director      President, Board of Directors
2018 FINANCIAL REPORT

Summary:
Our revenues of $436,215 decreased by $22,507 from 2017. This is primarily the result of a decline in our Fundraising Events of $19,441.

Our expenses amounted to $723,097, an increase of $23,204 from 2017. The increase was for additional hospice care provided to the increasing number of patients we are caring for.

This resulted in an operational deficit of $286,882. The annual deficits are covered by the authorized allocation of not more than 5% of the average of the last three years Endowment balance.

It should be noted that the Market Value of Endowment declined by $350,811 in 2018, after several years of significant growth.

Comments:
The Board of Directors is most grateful to the community for their donations and support of our events. This has allowed us to provide: support and individualized quality of life plans; assistance in understanding medical options; comprehensive, supportive nursing care; coordination of medical, social and spiritual services; bereavement and counseling.

The need for hospice care continues to increase on our Island. However, it is evident that for Hospice to continue to provide for these increasing demands, we require additional support from our entire community. In the future, it is essential that we are able to increase our donations significantly in order to cover these increases for additional staff, space and annual revenue shortfalls.

For Hospice of MV, 2018 was a year of growth, challenges and transitions, with the focus always on our central mission of bringing care and comfort to those with terminal illness across the diverse human landscape of the Island community.

For the Bereavement Program, it was a year of adjustment following the retirement, late in 2017, of Trudy Carter. Trudy anchored the program for more than a dozen years and was a beloved figure – not an easy act to follow. Shelly Davis joined the Hospice team in February as a counselor, and Kealee Rainaud was hired as an additional counselor late in the summer. By year’s end, 50 clients were receiving counseling from the Bereavement Program staff – most of them partners or children of hospice patients who have died.

In 2018, the monthly census of clients receiving hospice care ranged from 27 people to a high of 36 at the end of August – a new record for this organization. Overall, the caseload of Hospice MV has more than doubled over the past half-dozen years.

And at year’s end a wild card was thrown into the equation when HopeHealth – the hospice agency that allows patients to receive services by accessing their insurance hospice benefit – announced its plans to end service to the Island at the beginning of 2019. VNA of Cape Cod and the Islands has been working to be able to provide Medicare-based hospice services to Island patients, and began taking referrals in the first weeks of February. But how this new arrangement plays out, and what its repercussions will be for the Hospice of MV caseload, still remains to be seen.

It’s important to note that throughout the years when HopeHealth offered its hospice services on Martha’s Vineyard, our organizations saw each other as collaborators. Hospice and HopeHealth shared a table last spring at the MV Hospital’s annual health fair, explaining each service so prospective patients could decide which was better for them. The two organizations have partnered to bring professional training opportunities to the Island for our staffs. In June, for example, HopeHealth and Hospice co-sponsored an eight-hour dementia cross-training for volunteers and staff who work with clients at Windemere.

The Hospice of MV staff will remember 2018 as the year of training for, and implementation of, the modern system of recordkeeping known as EMR – electronic medical records. On a more human and less technical front, 2018 was also the year of Hospice’s staff retreat, held in December.

“We can harness the awareness of death to appreciate the fact that we are alive, to encourage self-exploration, to clarify our values, to find meaning, and to generate positive action.”

— Frank Ostaseski, author
Each substantial gift allows us to put less focus on paying our bills, and more attention toward providing the compassionate end-of-life care that represents the heart of the Hospice mission.

Led by professional facilitator Nina Selvaggio, it was a productive day of work focused on gaining insight into ways in which the Hospice of MV team might work best together, and on planning the organization’s path forward.

A highlight of 2018 for Hospice of MV was the annual Remembrance Luncheon held in May at the Harbor View Hotel. Attended by 49 people, it was a special opportunity for our Hospice family and friends, led by Rabbi Lori Shaller, to reflect on the lives of those who have died. The Black Brook Singers once again performed their inspirational Wampanoag music, and at the conclusion of the luncheon Gus Ben David released his homing pigeons from the Harbor View porch.

Hospice’s Oak Bluffs Road Race event drew more than 500 entrants in May, and our largest fundraising event, the Summer Soirée, was attended by more than 325 people in August.

Hospice’s eighth annual summer golf tournament, organized once again by Bud Lamoreaux, was such a success that the event has now been named in his honor. At year’s end, the traditional Homemade from the Heart gift sale and the annual Reflections of Peace Christmas Concert also brought in essential funds for the ongoing work of Hospice.

However, after all the countless hours of work that went into July’s three-day tennis tournament for a net profit of just over $8,000, it was decided not to undertake this event again in 2019.

The calculus of summer fund-raising on Martha’s Vineyard is daunting, and becomes more so every year as the Island’s many worthy nonprofits pack the calendar with benefit events. We are enduringly grateful to the dozens of volunteers who make our fund-raising events possible, even as direct donations to Hospice of MV become more vital each year to our continued viability. Simply put, each substantial gift to Hospice allows us to put less focus on paying our bills, and more attention toward providing the compassionate end-of-life care that represents the heart of the Hospice mission.

Looking back across the trends of recent years, and forward with an eye to the demographics of a steadily aging Vineyard community, it’s easy to see that this twofold challenge – providing our essential services and finding the funds to continue them – will only grow. As Hospice of MV looks to 2019 and the years beyond, we rededicate ourselves to meeting this community’s end-of-life needs, and we thank you for the support that makes our work possible.
